What I stand for:

My passion is to harness and leverage the power of transitions. Leaders take charge of the world they create. Transitions bring unique opportunities to our space and allow us to co-create a new world.

My purpose is to bring heartfelt leadership to the world. I thrive when I (co)create and (co)lead contextually based, experientially driven transformative learning events.

Motto: Leaders Grow Leaders

Background:

Throughout my career as a consumer psychologist and brand portfolio strategist, I travelled the world working with teams forging meaningful connections between humans and abstract concepts like brands, organisations, tribes... While deep diving in the plethora of cultures our planet harbours, I also earned my entrepreneurial and change management spurs launching 3 companies and being involved in 5 mergers. I simply love the messiness as well as the opportunities change offers.

Today, I'm a global citizen growing leaders across 12 time-zones. I live both in the EU capital Brussels and under the Tuscan sun in Arezzo.
